THE NATIONAL BOOK COUNCIL

The National Book Prize for Children and Adolescents 2015 (Books 2014)

I The National Book Council would like to announce that as of this year, it will be introducing a new prize: Terramaxka – The National Book Prize for Children and Adolescents. Authors that (a) write in Maltese or English and (b) publish in Malta will be given awards and prizes for the best literary works for children and adolescents. Submissions must have been published in book form throughout 2014.

II In order for a book to be eligible for participation, it must have:

1. the publication date (2014) printed in the book,
2. 80% of its content must not have been published before,
3. the ISBN number issued by the National Book Council,
4. not won a prize in any of the previous competitions organised by the National Book Council.

III Every book will be evaluated according to criteria set by the National Book Council; the Adjudicating Board will be short listing a number of books in each category in order to award the best publication, only if the required level is reached. The Board may not award the prize if there is no publication that satisfies a number of set criteria.

IV The following prizes will be given to winning entries in every category:

1. The prize for every category is a €1,000, a trophy and a certificate for books that exceed 90 marks,
2. In the categories for original books (not translated), the illustrator is as eligible for a prize as the author,
3. A certificate will also be given to the publishers of the winning books in every category as well as to those authors and publishers whose books have been shortlisted,
4. Two months prior to the date of the National Book Prize ceremony the shortlisted titles in every category will be announced.
